To build a platform where people all over the world can create, share and benefit from written work.

L Fair